FEEDING THE GHOSTS

MONEY DRAWN FOR CHILDREN NOT AT THE HOME

Board of Examiners Refuse to Allow the Claims Put in Against the State by the Institution at West Oakland.

Thirty-two Alleged Fraudulent Entries Made on Which the Treasury of California Has Paid Over a Thousand Dollars.

Forty-thousand-dollar Bill at Willows—One of the So-called Alameda Robbers Released. Rates of Taxation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—The claims against the State for the support of orphans, half-orphans and abandoned children, sent in by the West Oakland home for the six months ending June 30, 1899, have not yet been approved by the State Board of Examiners, and there is no reason to expect that they will be in the near future.

Since the receipt of the claims the experts of the State Board have been busy on them, and, according to their figures, the West Oakland home, for the half year ending December 31, 1898, drew from the State $107,377 for support of orphans, etc., who were not then in the institution, and some of whom had been discharged two years before and whose names, after being dropped from the rolls for a period of six months, were again entered and funds collected on the entries. Their figures show that from July 1, 1896, to December 31, 1898, the Oakland institution has collected altogether $1,341,277 for children, who had been discharged, and for the support of whom the institution was in nowise interested.

The figures in the office of the State Board of Examiners also show that for the half year ending June 30, 1899, claims aggregating $114,537 were sent in by the West Oakland home for the support of children previously discharged from the institution.

The figures show that there were thirty-two alleged fraudulent entries made, on the majority of which the State for the half year ending December 31, 1898, paid the usual $100 per child, and that the entries, which they further show that those entries, with two exceptions, were duplicated and sent in as valid claims against the State for the six months ending June 30, 1899.

Several inquiries have been made as to the reason of the delay in approving the claims, and the reply written today contained a request to the institution to return to the State the sum of $134,127 which it had wrongfully received.

CHAINED TO THE WALL.

Horrible Spectacle in a San Francisco Basement.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—In the basement of a small house at No. 51 Jessie street between First and Second streets, there is a cell, in which a man is chained to the wall. His name is Amelia Tarentino and the light of reason has never entered his brain. Feeble of mind and destructive by nature, he crawls up and down on the floor, like some uncanny and unclassified animal.

The child grovels in the dirt, decaying the filth that lies within her reach. Strange sounds issue from her mouth, and her face is twisted and contorted in ugly grimaces. Being of a destructive bent, her mother, who is chained here to the wall, allowing about five feet of tether to the child, who spends the hours of daylight cuddled up in a corner or groping about for something to pull or tear.

Mrs. Tarentino has been in San Francisco but a single week. Her former home was Texas, where she lived and raised a family of five children, of which she has three now. The girl is not the only feeble-minded member of the family. A boy, Joseph Tarentino, suffers from the same mental malady, and he has been before the insane commissioners of this city. The family occupies miserable quarters, in want and squalor, the mother doing hard work to support her children.

Mrs. Tarentino seeks to have two of her children admitted to the Home for the Feeble-Minded and thus be relieved of the great burden that seems more than she can bear. The fact that she has been a resident of the State but ten days has made the case of the afflicted children difficult of determination, but the society is doing all in its power to secure the relief prayed for.

TAX RATES FIXED.

Boards of Supervisors of Several Counties Take Action.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] STOCKTON, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors today fixed the rate of taxation for State and county purposes at $1.45 in the city of Stockton and $1.75 outside, which includes the road tax. The outside rate last year was $1.25 and left a deficit, which accounts for the increase this year.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] JACKSON, Sept. 18.—The Supervisors of Amador county fixed the tax rate for the State and county at $2. This is a reduction of 15 cents when compared with last year.

SONOMA COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SANTA ROSA, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors of Sonoma county today fixed the tax rate for the State and county at $1.65. This is an increase of 25 cents over the last year.

TULARE COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] VISALIA, Sept. 18.—The Supervisors of Tulare county fixed the rate of taxation at $1.65 outside in incorporated towns, and $1.75 in incorporated towns.

STANISLAUS COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] MODESTO, Sept. 18.—The Stanislaus County Supervisors today fixed the rate of taxation for the fiscal year at $1.25 inside the city limits, and $1.50 outside. This is the total rate, with the State rate added. The county rate is 1 cent 7 mills greater than last year.

FRESNO COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] FRESNO, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors this afternoon fixed the county tax levy as follows: On inside property, $1.40 per $100 valuation; outside, $1.70 per $100. This means a 30-cent tax for road purposes.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN JOSE, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors fixed the tax rate for the ensuing year at $1.50 on each $100 valuation. This is 10 cents in excess of last year.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—The State and county tax rate was fixed by the Supervisors today at $1.70.

SAN FRANCISCO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors today fixed the municipal tax levy at $1.029, taking the assessment valuation of $375,000,000 as the basis of calculation. When the State levy of .60 is added, the total levy makes the total for the ensuing fiscal year $1.63 on each $100 valuation.

ALAMEDA COUNTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] OAKLAND, Sept. 18.—The Board of Supervisors today fixed the county tax levy for the fiscal year of 1899-1900 for the inside rate, and $1.64 for the outside rate.

MONTREY'S SHERIFF KILLED.

He Was Trying to Arrest George Cesar for Arson.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SALINAS, Sept. 18.—H. R. Farley, Sheriff of Monterey county, was shot and killed at 11 o'clock tonight by George Cesar, whom he was trying to arrest for arson. Cesar, who is a German, aged 22 years, had been drinking heavily and threatened to shoot four officers and burn up the town. About 10 o'clock an alarm was turned in, and it was found that a barn was on fire. Soon afterward fire was discovered in a few minutes, and as it was at once ascertained that Cesar was carrying out his threat, Sheriff Farley, accompanied by former Dist. Atty. Zaballa, went in search of Cesar, who had run home and armed himself with a double-barreled shotgun.

As Farley entered the house, Cesar at a distance of only a few feet fired and shot the officer through the forehead. Farley died in a few minutes. While Zaballa was administering to his dying comrade, the murderer escaped. The entire country was soon aroused, and people turned out from near and far to search for the assassin.

An hour after the shooting, he was discovered hiding in a cellar. The mob frantically proclaimed its intention to lynch him, and a posse of deputy sheriffs and constables had a most difficult time in protecting the prisoner. While argument ran high, one of the constables, unobserved, managed to drive off at a gallop to the county jail before the mob realized the ruse.

Sheriff Farley was perhaps the most popular man in Monterey county. He was 29 years of age and last November was elected Sheriff by a large majority over John Matthews, who had held the office for twelve years. Prior to his election Farley had been a newspaper man, his last journalistic venture having been the editing of the Gonzalez and Tribune. His murder was as much despised in Salinas as the Sheriff was beloved. He has been considered a worthless character, although he had never before attempted any acts of violence. He has no occupation.

LATER.—A. M. The revengeful men of Salinas declare that they will hang Cesar tonight, provided he does not die from the loss of blood. He was shot in the stomach by Constable Allen, who was captured in the cellar was weak from loss of blood. It is also believed he shot himself, but no one in Salinas now knows whether Cesar is dead or alive, because he has been driven off by a deputy sheriff to protect him from the certain vengeance of the mob.

It now transpires that Cesar was never in the jail, although many for a time believed it to be there. The officers, knowing that they could never protect their prisoner, drove him off toward the hills, and it is generally believed the murderer was taken to Hollister, and it is said he would have been safe nowhere in Monterey county. Meanwhile the crowd here, which has been armed with ropes as well as pistols and shotguns, and they say the murderer of the youngest Sheriff in the State will never enter Salinas jail alive.

The town, and in fact the entire county, is aroused as it never was before. The mob who are trying to lynch Cesar are not the disorderly element, but comprise some of the most important citizens of the county. Any man who is in the jail all night, and is in the morning, are scouring the foothills, and they say if they find Cesar and his guardians the latter will be forced to give their captive up to swift punishment.

CESAR'S BROTHER.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] SALINAS, Sept. 18.—Hundreds of armed citizens surrounded the jail and Courthouse. Frederick Cesar, a brother of George, came in to see the mob, but ten days has made the case of the afflicted children difficult of determination, but the society is doing all in its power to secure the relief prayed for.

HONOLULU ADVICES.

Plan for the Improvement of Port Facilities in Hawaii.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—The steamer Coptic, from oriental ports via Honolulu, brings the following advice from the latter port, under date of September 11:

"Naval Commander Merry, who has been stationed here for the past three months, and who has given much thought to the subject of port facilities, has evolved a plan by which he hopes to have the deep-water area of the harbor doubled. He is of the opinion that the work of enlarging the harbor would pay for itself in the value of reclaimed marsh lands, which there are several hundred acres.

"Col. Ruhlen has received instructions from Washington ordering him to condemn for military purposes the crown lands of Kahauiki and of Leliha, containing respectively 1134 and 1440 acres.

"The transport City of Puebla, on which there was trouble between white and negro soldiers on the voyage from San Francisco to this city, resumed her voyage to Manila on the 8th inst. No further trouble occurred, and it is believed that the matter has blown over.

"The United States transport Lee-lanaw, with cavalry horses for Manila, arrived today, ten days from San Francisco.

CONTROLLED BY MESMERIST.

Mrs. Foss Wants Mrs. Martin Arrested for Grand Larceny.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] OAKLAND, Sept. 18.—A warrant was sworn out today by Mrs. E. L. Foss for the arrest of Mrs. Mary Weber, known to the police and Oakland residents as Mrs. Mary Martin.

Mrs. Foss charges Mrs. Martin, alias

Weber, with grand larceny. She claims that for weeks she has been under the hypnotic influence of Mrs. Martin, and that while controlled by the will of the mesmerist, she signed away her property to her.

This is the second time Mrs. Martin has appeared in the role of hypnotist with a running accompaniment of really spirited away from the subject victim. Sarah Leonard of Oakland first felt the magnetic passes of Mrs. Martin, and while under the mysterious influence, decided all her property to Oakland's female Svengali, Carrie Judd Montgomery, the famous Salvationist, espoused the cause of Mrs. Leonard. The case came up before Judge Green, and Mrs. Martin was sentenced to a ten-years term in the State penitentiary. The hypnotist served four years of her term, was pardoned by Gov. Budd, and released from custody about two years ago.

CASEY AT LIBERTY.

Suspected Alameda Robber Released Through Habeas Corpus.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Jake Casey, whom the police charge with being a member of the Alameda robbery gang, suspected of having been hired by Plunger Howard to dump Millionaire Green overboard, and accused of having confessed that he leaped from the railing of the steamer that bore his intended victim out onto the high seas and then paddled to the shore some miles away when courage failed him, is at liberty.

A writ of habeas corpus sworn out on behalf of the accused, permitted the hearing of the facts of the case, however, and when they had been presented together with the law bearing on the case, Judge Judge Murasky, who heard the argument on the writ, held that even sufficient evidence did not exist for the successful prosecution of an action to recover, let alone upon which to condemn the accused of a felony. Hence the writ was granted and Casey is at liberty.

WESTLAKE'S SUCCESS.

Ex-Tax Collector of Monterey County Escapes Imprisonment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Charles L. Westlake, ex-Tax Collector of Monterey county, has been successful in his appeal to the Supreme Court from a judgment, sentencing him to five years' imprisonment and from an order denying a new trial. He was convicted of embezzling $201. It was shown that he received $272 for licenses, but later on he settled in full.

The Attorney-General, in representing the State, stated that there must have been some very important testimony omitted from the transcript, but while satisfied that an embezzlement had been committed, the court held that evidence as presented in the transcript failed to substantiate the charge. The Supreme Court decided that the judgment and order of the lower court be reversed.

FIRE AT WILLOWS.

Hochheimer & Co.'s Big Store Gutted on the Lower Floors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WILLOWS, Sept. 18.—A fire broke out today in the basement of Hochheimer & Co.'s big department store, the largest in Northern California. For two hours the fire raged in the basement and second floor, but the fire was finally extinguished. The dry goods, men's furnishings and shoe departments, on the second floor, were completely gutted. The grocery department suffered considerable damage and the furniture department on the third floor slightly damaged. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office and the Postal Telegraph office were considerably damaged. The total loss will probably reach $40,000; fully insured.

CARTER'S FLIGHT.

He Is Suspected of Having Robbed a Man at Sacramento.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—Yesterday a man named Wilson, a traveling photographer, told how his partner, one E. R. Carter, had robbed him of $5 and jumped the town. It now develops that an armed man, Ross, who had fallen in with the pair, had been decamped, was robbed of $1000 that he had hid under the carpet in his room at the Mansion House, a place Carter had taken. The flight of Carter casts suspicion on him, but there is no way of knowing who seen the old man hide his wad of bank notes.

FATAL MISTAKE.

Cook Takes Carbolic Acid Thinking It Was Whiskey.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN JOSE, Sept. 18.—James P. Dougherty, cook for a hay-baling crew near Stanford University, died this morning from carbolic-acid poisoning. The evidence at the inquest showed that the poisoning was accidental. Dougherty having mistaken a bottle for one containing whiskey. Deceased was 57 years of age and single.

Mrs. Estee Will Implicate.

CARSON (Nev.), Sept. 18.—Maher and Mackenzie, two young men arrested in San Francisco last week for cattle-stealing in Nevada, had their preliminary examination today. They were bound over to the grand jury. The evidence implicated a young woman named Emma Estee as being one of the main actors in the crime. She was arrested late this afternoon. The case promises to be of unusual interest, as Mrs. Estee says she will implicate many others.

Current from Blue Lakes.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 18.—The Standard Electric Company of California was today granted a county franchise for constructing and maintaining a system of poles to conduct an electric current from Blue Lakes over the highway for the purpose of furnishing power for San José and neighboring towns.

Cannery Combine Incorporated.

FRESNO, Sept. 18.—Articles of incorporation of the California Fruit Canning Company were filed in the county clerk's office this morning. It is a San Francisco corporation, popularly known as the "cannery combine." The capital stock is $3,500,000; amount subscribed, $1100.

AMERICANS IN YUKON.

STEAMER ALPHA BRINGS PASSENGERS FROM DAWSON.

News of Fatal Shooting at Dyea. Canadian Militiamen Says Rich Englishmen Are Taking Everything—Swift Streams the Miners' Principal Enemy.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] VANCOUVER (B. C.), Sept. 18.—The steamer Alpha has arrived here with about two hundred passengers, many of whom left Dawson Sept. 15, on the steamer Sibyl, on which was £1000 of gold. Among the passengers were ninety-two members of the Yukon police, who were landed at Vancouver.

News was brought by the Alpha of a tragedy at Dyea. James Carroll shot Charles Ekman, with fatal result, on September 12. John Neill and two others arrived at Skagway with the body of Ekman just prior to the sailing of the Alpha. The unfortunate man was alive when they left Dyea, but died soon after leaving.

CREEKS CLEANED OUT.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] VANCOUVER (B. C.), Sept. 18.—Lieut. Clin, of the Canadian militia in the Yukon, who has just arrived here said:

"I have escorted tons upon tons of gold from the coast, and know something about the coast. They were mostly Americans there until recently. Rich Englishmen, however, are taking their places, buying up bench and hill claims for $200 and $400. What cost the Americans $1000, sometimes $2000 to hold. These Englishmen will bring in machinery, and with the claim they have Jewed out of the poor miners, make fortunes.

"Most of the creeks are cleaned out. The big gold mines will be worked by machinery. With a few isolated exceptions, Americans have simply opened up the country for the British. Just before I left there was a strike on the coast, thirty-seven miles from Selkirk and 350 miles from Dawson.

"As thousands went in all the way from Dyea and did not come out, I am again, they must be making money. I was on the spot. The stream is very swift and hardpan 150 feet down. There is plenty of gold, but the current cannot be overcome. It rushes between huge mountains, with almost perpendicular cliffs, and sweeps out the best-protected diggings. Miners often waking up to see a fortune just in their grasp swept away by the flood."

CUBA'S PITIFUL STATE.

Long-continued Dry Weather Proves Disastrous to Crops.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—William Wilcox, general manager of the Cuban industrial relief fund, and who has recently returned from Cuba, says: "Cuba is in a pitiful state. Instead of a rainy season, Cuba has had a drought. Not since 1844 has there been such long-continued dry weather during the summer. The result has been disastrous. The United States Weather Bureau reports that all small crops have been ruined. Sugar cane has been so damaged that the crop next year will be a full crop, another that will give three-quarters of a crop, and a third that will produce from a third to a half."

"Business in the cities is desperately dull. The hotels are empty, restaurants are idle, and all small affairs are lifeless. The business community is scraping along as best they may. In the hope that the future of the island may be saved, the Cuban government has materially lessened the amount of money in circulation. The hectic flush of the money market, which many persons mistook for genuine prosperity has died out.

"There can be no return of prosperity in Cuba until the farmers have been helped back to their homes. In the country the desolation wrought by Weyler's troops without number. The big planters have been able to do only a little toward the rehabilitation of their properties. They have as yet been unable to obtain money with which to resume operations. Money will not be forthcoming until the political conditions are settled.

"The sugar and tobacco-growers favor annexation as a business measure. Free trade with the United States would serve just as well. Cuban politicians and office-seekers want independence. Any method of giving their offices would satisfy them. The people want to get on their feet and to earn a living. Anything other than Spanish rule will suit them.

"Any one who denounces the Cubans as dirty, lazy worthless loafers, guilty of slander. Anyone who asserts that the Cuban will not work speaks without knowledge of the subject. Cubans come to our relief in time swarms to beg for a day's work. Not one has yet come to beg for food. Our relief farms are giving support wholly in part to about seven hundred and fifty persons, of whom about six hundred are dependent women and children. We have workers in our fields who should be in the hospital. Some of them have insisted on working until they dropped in their tracks through sheer fatigue. The Cuban will work if any one will give him a chance."

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, thus a severe aching of the bones. S. S. the public highway north of Carterville. They were all armed with guns, and were well supplied with ammunition. When captured, they were in wagons, and said they were returning from Carterville to their homes at Perrine, a new mining town, ten miles northwest of here.

They are charged with having been a part of the armed mob which had gathered around Brush's mine last night, before the troops arrived. State constable Fowler has filed a complaint for murder against them with Justice J. W. Samuels. They will probably be given a preliminary hearing late this afternoon. The names of the men arrested and now under guard at the courthouse are:

THOMAS PRY, BERT WELCH, MILES COLE, JOHN THOMPSON, OTIS MYNARD, GEORGE HUDSON, TONY UVALDY, MILO KIRK, FRANK PASSANA, WILEY COLE, FRANK CATHCART, ED RALLS, WALTER CHILDERS, OSCAR CHILDERS, HARRY JARVIS, HENRY JARVIS, JASPER METZGAR, ABE WIGGETT.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL THREATENED.

Superintendent Says He Will Hold the County Responsible.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Carterville, Ill., says that Sam T. Brush, manager of the mines, reports that, in addition to the four negroes first killed, two more are dead, making a total of six casualties. The Sheriff, however, says this is not so.

Nineteen miners have been arrested at Herrin, and taken to Marion, the county seat, for trial. Co. B of New-ton, and Co. F of Mt. Vernon, Fourth Regiment, are expected here this afternoon.

A special from Marion states that the Superintendent of the Illinois Central has notified Sheriff Gray that the miners at Carterville threaten his road and its passengers, and that he will hold the county responsible for any damages. The Sheriff leaves a sick bed to go to Carterville.

TELEGRAMS FROM AUTHORITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), Sept. 18.—Gov. Tanner today received a message from Col. Bennett in charge of the troops at Carterville. He reported all quiet, and said he feared no further outbreak. Sheriff Gray telegraphed that twenty-seven of the men supposed to have been implicated in yesterday's riot had been arrested, charged with murder, and had been locked up in the county jail at Marion. He asked the Governor for a detail of soldiers to guard the jail. The Governor immediately wired Col. Bennett to furnish the detail from Co. C, Carbonade, to guard the prisoners from a possible attempt to escape and to prevent outsiders from liberating them. About a dozen men have been in jail there for some time, charged with the murder of a negro woman who was on a train going to Carterville.

Tomorrow four prisoners will appear in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Allen to answer to a charge of contempt of court. The St. Louis and Big Muddy Coal Company's plant at Carterville is in the hands of C. H. Bosworth, receiver, appointed by Judge Allen.

SPORTING RECORD.
OHIO GIANT WINNER.

JACK STELZER FELL DOWN BEFORE HIM.

Only Seven Rounds Were Fought at the Olympic Athletic Club in Denver Before the Fight Was Stopped.

The Beaten Man Was Game, but He Had No Show to Win Against Ruhlman and the Referee Interfered.

Louisville, Cleveland and Baltimore Wins Chicago and Brooklyn Tie. Races at New York-Jockey James Disqualified.

Associated Press Night Report. DENVER, Sept. 18.—Gus Ruhlman defeated Jack Stelzer in a contest to-night before the Olympic Athletic Club, the decision being given in his favor in the seventh round. Stelzer, though game, was clearly too weak to last much longer, and referee Masterman's decision was heartily applauded by the crowd.

In the fifth round, Stelzer went down from a right uppercut, and was saved by the bell. Again in the sixth round he was floored, and getting up, missed a lead and fell from weakness. After Ruhlman had knocked Jack twice in the seventh round the fight was stopped and the decision given to Ruhlman.

DRUBBED THE COFFEE COOLER. Tommy Ryan Beats Frank Craig at New York.

Associated Press Night Report. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Tommy Ryan, the Syracuse middle-weight pugilist, gave Frank Craig, the Harlem "Coffee Cooler" a terrible drubbing before 7000 persons at the Coney Island Sport Club tonight. Both men were in splendid condition and each, when weighed in two hours previously was under 155 pounds. That Ryan would defeat Craig was generally believed, but from the glowing accounts of Craig's doings among the Britons, every one looked for a much better fight than that which the colored man put up. He knocked Ryan down in the second round, but never afterward did he hold the upper hand.

Ryan's fast work in the fourth round told on Craig and two heavy rights over the heart at the close of the fifth round did not improve his condition. Ryan's left played a tattoo on Craig's face, and the colored man began spitting blood. In the sixth round Ryan sent his right under the jaw and uppercut him with his left on the face. During the next two rounds Ryan kept the negro busy trying to protect himself.

In the ninth round Ryan sent right and left three times to the head. Then he sent Craig to the floor with a right swing. Craig remained down eight seconds, and then dropped three times on one knee to receive punishment. Ryan finally got him up and pummeled him with right and left. Craig seemed to be quitting, and dropped twice more.

In the tenth round Ryan lost no time in going for his man. He rushed him, sent both hands to the head and body. Craig staggered about blindly. Tommy landed a right on the side of Craig's head, the "Coffee Cooler" falling a heap. He got up on the tenth second, and Ryan rushed at him again, but referee Siler, seeing that Craig was unable to defend himself, stopped the fight between the men and declared Ryan the winner.

EASTERN BASEBALL.

Windy City Band Hammers the Brooklyn Nine to a Standstill. Associated Press Night Report. BROOKLYN, Sept. 18.—Chicago played Brooklyn to a standstill today. Chicago hammered Kennedy out of the box in the seventh and took the lead by 10 to 8. Brooklyn tied it in the same inning. Then the game was called. The attendance was 2000. Score: Chicago, 10; base hits, 11; errors, 3. Brooklyn, 10; base hits, 16; errors, 6. Batteries—Griffith and Chance; Kennedy, Dunn and McGuire.

BALTIMORE-CINCINNATI. Associated Press Night Report. BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—Poor fielding work led the game for Cincinnati. The attendance was 1200. Score: Cincinnati, 2; base hits, 6; errors, 2. Baltimore, 2; base hits, 7; error, 1. Batteries—Pike and Peitz; McGinnity and Smith.

LOUISVILLE-PHILADELPHIA. Associated Press Night Report. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Phillips was a mystery to the heavy-hitting Phillies. The attendance was 3700. Score: Louisville, 6; base hits, 11; errors, 2. Philadelphia, 1; base hits, 8; errors, 3. Batteries—Phillips and Steelman; Bernhardt and Douglas.

CLEVELAND AND WASHINGTON. Associated Press Night Report. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Cleveland won its first victory since August 25. The attendance was 1000. Score: Cleveland, 5; base hits, 12; errors, 4. Washington, 4; base hits, 12; errors, 2.

STOCKTON'S OPENING. Initial Day of Driving Club's Meet Well Attended. Associated Press Night Report. STOCKTON, Sept. 18.—The opening day of the racing, under the auspices of the Stockton Driving Club, brought out what was without doubt the largest initial-day crowd ever at the local park. The betting was light and there is every indication that it will not improve in the book.

The track was very fast and the weather could not have been better for the horses. Three favorites were first to the wire, but only one of them was heavily played, and the books probably lost more money on the victory of the sprinter, New Moon. In the seven furlong dash, Goldy, with Ed Lafferty up, kept after the winner, but could not force him to a break. The betting on the first heat opened with Daedalus a favorite at 10 to 1 for the field, but before the horses were given the word it was 10 and 10. The books posted the following odds: Daedalus 2 to 5, Gaff Topail and Goldy 4 each, and Clipper even money. The exhibits in the agricultural pa-

Inspected, not alone by Maj. Long and the army medical officers, but also by treasury inspectors, but also by the Philippine customs.

There is a disposition among officials to attribute the blame for the Tartar incident to the grumbling of regulars and the activity of the irregulars in Hongkong. The result will be that army transports will hereafter not call at that port.

SAVE THE HOOKER. (Associated Press Day Report.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The War Department has decided to have the cable ship Hooker, which is on a reef at Corregidor Island, saved. The cost of raising the ship so that it can be taken to Cavite, will be $500,000, Mexican money, and to remove her cargo, $24,000, Mexican. It is estimated that she is worth over $200,000.

The value of the cargo to be saved is estimated above $100,000, and consists mainly of cable and other telegraphic cables, together with other telegraphic and signal corps supplies.

PHILIPPINE RECEIPTS. (Associated Press Day Report.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The War Department today made the statement that the total receipts of the Philippine Islands for the month of July were $22,445, divided as follows: Customs receipts at Manila, $391,147; customs receipts at Iloilo, $22,111; customs receipts at Cebu, $21,942.

To this should be added internal revenue receipts to the amount of $109,226. The remaining receipts consist of provost court fines, water rents, market and slaughter-house receipts, etc.

AGUINALDO'S OFFER. (Associated Press Day Report.) LONDON, Sept. 18.—A dispatch to Reuters from Hongkong says that Aguineldo from Manila announces that Aguineldo is willing to release all sick and civilian Spanish prisoners, but it is added that Aguineldo refuses to allow Spanish vessels to proceed to Philippine ports to receive them.

GEN. OTIS'S CAMPAIGN. Manila Quartermaster Says Fighting Will Not Last Long. (Associated Press Day Report.) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Maj. S. R. Jones, U.S.A., who has been quartermaster at Manila, ever since that city was captured by the Americans, was a passenger on the Coptic, which arrived from Hongkong and Yokohama, via Honolulu today. He will report to Washington. When Maj. Jones left Manila a forward movement in the rain and mud was being made against the insurgents.

He is of the opinion that 50,000 men will have to be kept on the island of Luzon for ten years in order to keep the peace, but that the fighting will not last six weeks when that number of Americans have been landed at Manila.

Lieut. J. Donaldson, of the Thirtieth Minnesota, and Corp. R. Woodworth of the same regiment, also arrived on the Coptic, having been granted leaves of absence.

MURKIN EXONERATED. (Associated Press Night Report.) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Gen. C. McReeve has been exonerated by the United States Attorney Combs from the charge preferred by Federal Quarantine inspectors that he had boarded the government transport Sheridan before the vessel had been passed upon by the quarantine authorities.

On the other hand, the general had been dragged on board by the misguided enthusiasm of the soldiers.

EXCLUSION OF CHINESE. China Protests Against the Military Order of Gen. Otis. (Associated Press Night Report.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The imperial Chinese government through its minister here, Wu Ting Fang, has lodged with the State Department an emphatic protest against the military order of Gen. Otis excluding Chinese from the Philippines.

The matter was promptly brought to the attention of the President, as the protest was of such a character as to give the subject an international aspect, considerably beyond the purely military questions involved.

It is said that China points out that she has welcomed the recent advent of the United States into the affairs of the Far East and that she hoped that this would prove a further bond, and would extend the relations between the two countries, particularly in these neighboring possessions.

Furthermore, it is understood that among the specific points of protest submitted by the Chinese government is one to the effect that such an order is a departure from the announced purpose of the President of the United States to maintain the present status of affairs in the Philippines until Congress has determined a permanent condition.

Gen. Otis's order was issued some time ago without direction from Washington, and apparently as a military necessity, although the Chinese protest against that, there is no military necessity, but, on the contrary, that the Chinese have rendered valuable military assistance.

Gen. Otis's order is signed by himself as Military Governor of the Philippines, and by Brig-Gen. Charles A. Whittaker, as chief of the military police, having supervision of Chinese affairs. It says: "The laws of the United States which prohibit the entrance of Chinese will be enforced here."

Gen. Otis made a report to the War Department on April 1 last on the exclusion of the Chinese, and said that only Chinese in good health, who had previously resided in the Philippines, were permitted to land at Manila, Cebu or Iloilo—the only three ports in the archipelago. He also explained the methods of registering, fees, etc. It is understood that the Chinese government regards the outcome of this protest with much apprehension. It is pointed out that the Chinese have been long established in the Philippines, and that a considerable branch of the industry of the islands is conducted by them and that the Chinese have been a long-established communication between China and the Philippines.

The Chinese protest, it is said to be couched in the most dignified and courteous terms, but it is to the deep umbrage the Chinese government feels over this order of Gen. Otis.

BUILDINGS WIPED OUT. Disastrous Fire Visits the Village of Farnham, N. Y. (Associated Press Day Report.) BUFFALO (N. Y.), Sept. 18.—A special to the News from Farnham says that almost the entire business section of the village was wiped out of existence by a fire which broke out in Louis Schwartz's barn today. The loss was between $200,000 and $250,000. Among the buildings destroyed were the Erie Preserving Company's cannery factory, the National Hotel and between fifteen and twenty dwellings.

DINNER TO DEWEY.

ARRANGEMENTS AT THE WHITE HOUSE PARTLY COMPLETED.

Guests Will Be Limited to Fifty and Will Include Only Prominent Officers of the Army and Navy and the High Government Officials.

(Associated Press Day Report.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Partial arrangements have been made at the White House for the dinner which President McKinley will give Admiral Dewey. It will be held on the evening of October 3, at 8 o'clock, in the state dining-room. The list of guests will be limited to fifty and will consist of prominent officers of the navy and army, and high officials of the government. A few invitations have already gone out. They are not specially engraved, and simply extend the President's invitation to be present. No members of the diplomatic corps will be present.

SUPERSEDURE OF SAMPSON. Navy Officials Say Dewey's Arrival Makes It Impossible. (A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.) NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that according to officials more concern is being displayed by the newspapers over the possible superseding of Admiral Sampson at New York by Admiral Howland than in any other matter. They say no such superseding will take place because the Chicago will not reach New York in advance of Admiral Dewey. This confidence is not based on instructions given to Admiral Howland, but rather upon their understanding of the matter.

The Chicago's itinerary ordered her to remain at Barbadoes five days so that the vessel will not sail until September 22, unless she should be hurried. Sailing on that date would prevent her arrival at New York on the 28th, but it is believed that Admiral Howland will proceed north leisurely and arrive at his destination early in October. Immediately upon the arrival of the ship, Admiral Howland is to be detached and ordered home to await retirement, and as this is his last cruise, he will probably accept the offer of a pension.

Even admitting that he will arrive at New York on September 28, it is said that while he may be sent to Admiral Dewey, he will be junior to Admiral Dewey, who will assume command of all the vessels within signal distance.

SPEAK FOR SCHLEY. Protest to the President Against His South Atlantic Assignment. (Associated Press Day Report.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Gov. Lowndes, Senator Wellington, Mayor Malster, of Baltimore, and Gen. Felix Agnus, called upon the President today and formally protested against the assignment of Rear-Admiral Schley to command the South Atlantic Squadron, on the ground that it was not commensurate with the dignity and the service he had rendered during the Spanish-American war.

The protest was made voluntarily and without the aid of Schley's knowledge. The President listened attentively to what the Maryland Republican leaders had to say, but gave no indication of what he would do.

UNCLE SAM'S FRIENDS. No Truth in Report of Alliance Against the United States. (Associated Press Day Report.) NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that information received at the State Department shows that there is no truth in the report of an alliance of the South American Central American Republics against the United States. Instead, the authorities understand that the desire among the Pan-American governments is, if possible, to make closer the friendships existing between them and the great republic of the north.

It is no secret that some time ago the republics of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, and Argentina held a conference of Brazil and Argentina held a conference for the purpose of reaching an agreement upon an appeal to other Pan-American countries for the holding of a second Pan-American congress, the object of which will be to make closer the relations with this government. Unfortunately, internal dissensions in Brazil prevented the adoption of the suggestion.

TRESPASSING ON APACHE RESERVATION FORBIDDEN.

New Mexican Cattle Thieves Abnormally Diligent Just Over the Territorial Line.

Reported Sale of a Great Copper Deposit Near Clifton for an Even Million Dollars.

Mexican Rurales Declared to Have Been in the Right in the Affair at Naco on the Border.

SOLOMONVILLE (Ariz.) Sept. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] After October 1, 1899, all travelers across the White Mountain Apache reservation, under a penalty of $1000 fine, must be provided with a passport, signed by an official of the Department of the Interior, superintendent, agent or sub-agent of Indian affairs or by an officer of the United States army commanding the first military post on the frontier. The penalty is to work as well against all who shall overstay the time limit of the passport secured. Every passport shall indicate the object of travel, the route to be pursued, and the time the person is to remain. By October 1 all horses and cattle on the reservation owned by persons who have not paid their grazing tax must be removed under penalty of entire loss.

The new Apache Canal on the south side of the Gila River has been completed, almost wholly by Apache labor. The canal, four miles in length, will carry enough water to irrigate 2000 acres of good land lying below it. The land is to be divided into sixteen-acre tracts, and is to be apportioned among the heads of families. The Indians appear favorably disposed toward the idea.

At Morenci, Monday, Ramon Acosta, under the effects of jealousy and megalomania, took two shots with a revolver at the object of his affections. The first bullet went wild, but the second grazed the top of the woman's head, though little to her injury. Just then Acosta was seized by the Indians and taken to the County Jail at Solomonville, charged with felony.

Pasqual Riata, a Mexican miner, 30 years old, was caught last Friday beneath falling rock in a stope of the Ryerson mine at Morenci and crushed to death.

A remarkable exhibition of feminine nerve has been furnished by the wife of Henry Dalton, a rancher, with home five miles south of Safford. While gathering green corn in the garden patch she stepped upon a rattlesnake. The plucky woman, instead of jumping back, possibly to her death, kept her foot pressed firmly down and shrieked for help. It was several minutes before she was heard by her daughter, the only other person on the farm, and more time was taken by the girl in securing a garden hoe with which to decapitate the snake. The rattler measured over five feet in length.

Tuesday night the Gila Valley was visited by one of the most severe storms known for years. The wind came in a hurricane dust storm, followed by rain and hail. The green residence at Coronado station was badly damaged and trees and telegraph poles were down by the score. The display of lightning was remarkable. One bolt struck near a wagon wherein were John Warden and family, knocking the horse down and stunning the passengers. For a day the trains on the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern Railway were abandoned, and stock trains were held up at Thomas.

Cattle stealing is reported to be abnormally active on the headwaters of the Gila, just across the Arizona line. One firm alone claims to have been robbed of $15,000 worth of stock since the first of the year, and is moving to another range. A Southwestern New Mexico journal places itself on record that "it is now high time this cattle stealing was stopped, if it has to be done by making some one jump off the cross-bars of a telegraph pole, wearing a hempen cravat."

Charles E. Shannon, formerly Internal Revenue Collector, has gone to New York, there, according to popular rumor, to transfer his mines at Metcalf to one of the great copper companies, at a price of even $1,000,000. The Shannon mines constitute the larger and richer part of Metcalf Hill, an almost solid deposit of low-grade copper ore of excessive baseness. Many believe it the largest deposit of copper ore in the Southwest. There are occasional seams of ore that run as high as 50 per cent metal. Mr. Shannon has owned the mine for many years, developing only as far as was needed, and securing a comfortable income by leasing and by the sale of ore. The only practical railroad route to the mine is already occupied by the "baby-gauge" of the Arizona Copper Company, which is a large number of claims around the Shannon property and works them by the leasing system. Sulphuric acid is an extraordinary degree, the ore of Metcalf Hill is readily reduced by an elaborate leaching process installed by the Arizona Copper Company, at Clifton, twelve miles away. Ore running as low as 3 per cent copper is made to pay the company well.

A final report has been made by the committee appointed to investigate the question of the pollution of the Gila by the discharge of the sulphuric acid leaching works at Clifton. Backed by the reports of chemists, sustained by close observation of vegetable growth where irrigated by the water under suspicion, the committee reports that the works in no wise pollute the stream.

A prospector on the San Carlos strip lately found a well-preserved Spanish flint-lock musket, inlaid with gold and silver, and bearing date of 1835.

The Graham County Bulletin announces that it will issue a handsomely illustrated special edition in December.

Andrew Kimball of Thatcher, president of the Gila Valley Stake of the Mormon church, appointed to be a delegate to the Missoula Irrigation Congress, has notified the Governor it will be impossible for him to attend.

THE NACO AFFAIR.

Mexican Authorities Declared to Have Been in the Right.

BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] As a result of the row Saturday afternoon, the Mexican authorities have massed a heavy force of Rurales near the international line, south of this point. The troops are under command of Lieut.-Col. Kostersky, of the Gendarmaria Fiscal. Though of tried friendliness toward Americans, he is a man who will not hesitate to take the most severe measures to maintain the authority of the Mexican government. Bob Clayton, the cowboy shot by the Rurales, died in Bisbee Monday night. His funeral, Tuesday, was attended by fifty cowboys from the neighboring ranches and round-ups, who loudly swore they would revenge his death. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict "that death resulted from a gunshot wound in the abdomen inflicted by Mexican Rurales, while resisting arrest at their hands, and further that said wound was received while Clayton was on American soil."

From the best evidence at hand, Clayton was the cause of all the trouble. He was at Naco, just across the line, drinking in the groggeries of the place. He was approached by a Mexican constable and requested to lay aside his revolver while in town, a rule general in all the towns of Sonora. Clayton, in the midst of language, refused to obey. Later he mounted his horse and proceeded to "take the town" in the way popular in Arizona twenty years ago. He transgressed too far when he stopped a wagon containing several Mexican officials. Several of the Rurales appeared and attempted to arrest the cowboy. He opened fire on them, they replying with rifles. Clayton retreated, firing as he went. He had passed thirty feet to the north of the international line when he received the fatal bullet.

It is alleged that Clayton and his friends were trying to rescue James Herron from unjust imprisonment. That may have been their idea, but it was one of the most unwise. The latter is a prosperous cattleman, with a ranch in Sonora. He had sold some horses in Sonora, and part of the band had been seized by Mexican officials, who charged that the animals had been smuggled. Herron had been placed under nominal arrest, but had the fullest of liberty. He had become impatient of the dilatory methods of the Mexican customs service, and had started with his wife and child for headquarters at Nogales, Sonora, hoping to settle up the difficulty. At Naco he met Clayton, who chose to regard him as a victim of Mexican persecution.

After Clayton was shot, Herron secured a guard of several Rurales to escort him to Nogales. On the way they were met by a band of American cowboys, who shot one of the Rurales and badly wounded a second. But Herron voluntarily continued on with his family to Nogales.

COWBOY TRAIN-ROBBERIES.

Local Talent May Have Held Up the Express at Cochise.

WILCOX (Ariz.) Sept. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] It now appears that the train-robbery at Cochise station is to go into the already too long list of crimes that are never avenged by the hand of the law. The outlaws have become invisible. Their trail is gone and the officers appear to be groping through the almost trackless mountains in the faintest hope that a clew of value may be found. There are theories without number. As two or three of the chiefest of the band have been killed or captured, this is the first crime for years that has not been charged up against the "Black Jack" gang. And yet it is probable it was done by the same individuals who committed the last railway robbery in the Territory, that at San Simon, east of this point. There is a Territorial law that fixes the punishment for train robbery at death, but, as hangings are all too frequent in Arizona, the legal threat is evidently despised.

There undoubtedly is a rendezvous for outlaws in the Zuni Mountains, on the boundary between Arizona and New Mexico, at a point conveniently placed for salies against the railroads in either Territory. There is also a small nest of horse thieves and rustlers near the head of Cibola creek, at extreme Northern Gila county, Arizona.

At these two points are usually gathered a few desperadoes of the "Climax Bill" and "Bronco Pete" stripe, regular novel representatives, with horse and cattle-stealing as their main source of livelihood. Yet there is a growing suspicion here that the men who held up the train at Cochise are nothing more than cowboys resident not far from Wilcox, probably engaged in the fall round-up now in progress. Once the deed was done and the plunder divided or cached, the men could return to the camps without suspicion being aroused. The giant powder robbery at Soto Bros. Wilcox. The trail back toward Wilcox, till within a mile of the town, it was obliterated by the tracks of a band of cattle that had apparently been kept in readiness for the occasion. The whole country was full of horse tracks, for a round-up was at the time in progress in the vicinity.

AN INDIAN ROUND-UP.

Apache Wanderers Herded Back Upon the Reservation.

GLOBE (Ariz.) Sept. 15.—[Regular Correspondence.] For months a large number of San Carlos Apaches have been squatting near Globe, working or loafing about the town, and rapidly degenerating into vagrancy. Last Tuesday Chief of Police W. M. Tuttle of San Carlos came to Globe and rounded up his wards. They were wanted on the reservation to build fences and dig irrigation ditches and to prepare their lands for planting. He sent off by rail way two carloads of Indians, and even then was not satisfied. Every Indian tepee was burned, for the redskins were absent from the reservation without leave. During the last few months a large number of Apaches have been permitted to leave the reservation on pass, to gather acorns and berries and mescal root. The Pinal mountains have been full of the redskins, but they are now being called back to San Carlos. The Indians have conducted themselves well and throughout the district they themselves once owned, have uniformly respected the later claims of the white man.

THE MAN OF THE WEEK.

DON JUAN ISADOR JIMENEZ

In the matter of the Santa Dominga revolution it is sort of up and down between the two contending forces. It is uncertain what a day may bring forth, and there is no telling where the followers of Jimenez will land. At present things are going along in his interest. Don Juan Isador Jimenez was at one time one of the richest men in this hemisphere. After Hereaux had been elected President of Santo Domingo he told Jimenez there was room for only one big man in that republic. After the "accidental" destruction of considerable property belonging to Jimenez he came to the conclusion that the President was right, and retired from the island. About the time the United States took a hand in the Cuban war, they gave Jimenez the privilege of fitting out an expedition to fight for Cuba. He sailed from Mobile with a cargo of arms, ammunition and men, but instead of going to Cuba he took his men to Santo Domingo. Jimenez boasts that one of his men was responsible for the killing of Hereaux. This is all done in the interests of placing Jimenez at the head of the republic of Santo Domingo.

THE CASE OF QUAY.

Dispatches from Philadelphia say that Senator Quay has suddenly come to the conclusion that his chances of being seated in the United States Senate on the appointment of Gov. Stone are very slim, and that he has set about the work of securing an extra session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania with a view to having himself chosen by that body to fill the vacancy.

The wonder is, not so much that Mr. Quay has come to a realization of the fact that the Senate would not seat him on the strength of a gubernatorial appointment, but that a man of his intelligence and sagacity should ever have entertained the idea that he could get into the Senate of the United States in any manner. The Senate undoubtedly has power to seat a gubernatorial appointee under the same circumstances as those surrounding the case of Mr. Quay, but it has refused to do so in at least two parallel cases, and it is absurd to suppose that the Senate would reverse itself in so grave a matter for the personal benefit of Matt Quay. And, besides, if Quay were to be admitted to the Senate upon the Governor's appointment, there would be others. A new precedent would be established, which would be certain to prove very troublesome in the future. California would be directly interested, for Gov. Gage would, of course, make an appointment to fill the vacancy now existing. If Quay were admitted, the Senate could not with propriety refuse to admit the appointee from California, and other similar cases would inevitably arise in other States. In fact, the seating of Quay would tend directly to the encouragement of legislative deadlocks, and to the appointment of Senators by the Governors of States, in lieu of their election by the Legislatures thereof, as provided in the National Constitution. This would be a manifest wrong, an absurdity, and a perversion of the Constitution, which contemplates and provides for the election of United States Senators by the Legislatures of the several States, and by no other power or agency.

If the principle were to be admitted that a United States Senator may be appointed by the Governor of a State, in case of the failure of the Legislature to discharge its constitutional duty of election, it would be easy for political tricksters to prevent an election by the Legislature, at their pleasure, and thus to throw the selection of the Senator into the hands of the Governor. It is needless to point out how easily this arrangement might be made the vehicle of unmitigated fraud and corruption. If Mr. Quay can persuade a majority of the Legislature of Pennsylvania to elect him to the United States Senate, well and good. If not, he will never again enjoy the honor of representing his State in that capacity at the national capital. The same may be said of California. If we cannot have a Senator elected by the free and untrammelled choice of the Legislature of the State, we will have to be satisfied with only one Senator. We are not yet ready to accept the principle of Senatorial election by gubernatorial appointment.

There are intimations that some of the men interested in oil production are contemplating further encroachments upon reservation territory in the vicinity of Westlake and Sunset parks, and it is even reported that the limits prescribed by the ordinance have been overstepped in at least one case. It is hardly necessary to say that if any such attempt be made on the part of the oil men, they will know, before they are done with the matter, that they have been in a fight. The further encroachment of oil wells upon the distinctively residence section in that part of the city would inflict far greater injury upon the owners of homes than any possible benefits which the oil men could derive from the invasion. The situation will be watched closely by men who are able and ready to protect the interests of home-owners. It may seem an easy matter to start a movement of this sort in order to "bear" the real-estate market for speculative purposes, but such a plan, if it be contemplated, is doomed to failure, and would better be abandoned in the outset, for it would be found to be heavily loaded.

There is said to be an astonishing demand for pianos in Kansas. It naturally follows that Kansas has the money to pay for the machines, thanks to Republican prosperity.

"THE UGLY SUNDAY NEWSPAPER."

The San Francisco Argonaut is making a savage onslaught on the American Sunday newspaper, which, while "having particular reference to the screeching, yellow variety," to use the Argonaut's own words, still appears to be a general roast of the daily newspaper of the Sunday variety.

As a matter of fact, the Sunday newspaper of the "screeching, yellow variety" is no worse than the weekday publication of the newspaper of the same sort, except that there is more of it. The newspaper that is yellow on Sundays does not change its color on the six working days of the week; therefore our esteemed San Francisco contemporary should not single out the Sunday newspaper alone for its castigation, but should pour its vitals of wrath down the ripped-up back of the accused sheet which is yellow all the time.

The Argonaut makes a point that "New York and San Francisco, having the vilest newspapers in America, are the most lacking of the American cities in the finer and higher forces that make for the moral elevation of the people." That is quite true admits of no dispute. Both the eastern and western metropolises are being debauched morally and intellectually by their newspapers of the yellow kind—not by the Sunday newspaper alone, but by that same newspaper whether it comes out on a week day or upon the holy Sabbath. We are told that the people get the kind of newspaper they demand. This is not so. They get the kind of newspaper that is forced upon them by low-minded, conscienceless panders to the vicious and the depraved, and it is to the making of more vices and greater depravity that sheets of the yellow variety tend.

If San Francisco and New York are the worst cities in America, it is because they have the most vicious and low-toned newspapers in America, and when one sees the vile sheets that emanate from the presses of these two cities he is not surprised that wantonness runs riot and that intelligence is on a low plane.

So long as millionaire publishers have long purses and are short in the virtues that adorn life, we may expect no improvement in the general intelligence of the people among whom they circulate their rancorous and uproarious publications. Having acquired the habit of screeching and of rioting in diabolism, newspapers of the yellow kind find it next to impossible to get back to the calm level of sanity. Born of the fever of freakism, they beget that characteristic in their readers, and so long as these sheets are controlled by men of foul minds and low instincts we need not expect to see any uplift in the character of the community in which they are sown broadcast every morning.

The seeming effort of the Argonaut to make it appear that because a newspaper is printed on Sunday it must necessarily be yellow, is not founded upon reason. The Sunday newspaper of the right sort is uplifting, ennobling and exalting to its readers. It carries information and intelligence to those who cannot be reached from the pulpits nor enlightened by attrition. It has its place in the world, and the same newspaper fills that place with entire credit to itself and with benefit and profit to those who con its pages. The decent and respectable Sunday newspaper lights the dark places and brings entertainment to the lonely, and while there are bad Sunday newspapers, just as there are bad men in the world, it has come to stay; at the same time it has some great power could wipe out of existence the sheets that are yellow and vile, the profession of journalism would be exalted and the people would be made better.

The appearances indicate that yellow journalism has reached its high noon, and if there is anything in signs, the newspaper that is freakish and indecent is near the jumping-off place. When it takes the final leap all good people will rejoice.

STOCKING THE STREAMS.

Freedom, a newspaper published at Manila, gives to the newspapers of home an example in loyalty which is well following. In a recent issue that paper said:

"The war in Luzon must go on; it was brought on by the bettering natives, and there is only one course open to us, and that is to pursue. The sovereignty of the United States must be acknowledged in the archipelago before the next step can be taken. Any other course would be folly."

It is mainly out of regard for the camper that the State of California maintains systems for the continuance of the fish within the interior waters of the State, for outside of Lake Tahoe, whence thousands of pounds of trout are shipped to market every year, the denizen of the mountain streams is not generally caught for sale.

The Times recently published some facts in regard to the placing of trout in the San Gabriel River, giving credit therefor to the Fish Commissioner. In this, a local organization was overlooked. The Creel Club of Los Angeles, which made the application, obtained the fish and put them in the stream for distribution. These fish are the rainbow or mountain trout. The Creel Club has tried experiments at great expense in the planting of eastern brook trout in the San Gabriel River, but none of them have been heard from, so that hereafter only the native trout will be propagated.

According to late Manila advices the Filipino Congress has become disheartened. If it will now proceed to disband, we will doubtless be able to fix this little matter up without further bloodshed or other frictional occurrences.

As expressing the further opinion that 50,000 men will have to be kept on the island for ten years in order to keep the peace, but it is safe to assume that the officer is unduly pessimistic. There is little doubt that when the Filipinos once learn that this country proposes to accord to them the utmost liberty and the maximum of good government, they will be as tractable as any of the people of our flag.

The Argonaut makes a point that "New York and San Francisco, having the vilest newspapers in America, are the most lacking of the American cities in the finer and higher forces that make for the moral elevation of the people." That is quite true admits of no dispute. Freedom, a newspaper published at Manila, gives to the newspapers of home an example in loyalty which is well following. In a recent issue that paper said:

"The war in Luzon must go on; it was brought on by the bettering natives, and there is only one course open to us, and that is to pursue. The sovereignty of the United States must be acknowledged in the archipelago before the next step can be taken. Any other course would be folly."

It is mainly out of regard for the camper that the State of California maintains systems for the continuance of the fish within the interior waters of the State, for outside of Lake Tahoe, whence thousands of pounds of trout are shipped to market every year, the denizen of the mountain streams is not generally caught for sale.

The Times recently published some facts in regard to the placing of trout in the San Gabriel River, giving credit therefor to the Fish Commissioner. In this, a local organization was overlooked. The Creel Club of Los Angeles, which made the application, obtained the fish and put them in the stream for distribution. These fish are the rainbow or mountain trout. The Creel Club has tried experiments at great expense in the planting of eastern brook trout in the San Gabriel River, but none of them have been heard from, so that hereafter only the native trout will be propagated.

According to late Manila advices the Filipino Congress has become disheartened. If it will now proceed to disband, we will doubtless be able to fix this little matter up without further bloodshed or other frictional occurrences.

As expressing the further opinion that 50,000 men will have to be kept on the island for ten years in order to keep the peace, but it is safe to assume that the officer is unduly pessimistic. There is little doubt that when the Filipinos once learn that this country proposes to accord to them the utmost liberty and the maximum of good government, they will be as tractable as any of the people of our flag.

The Argonaut makes a point that "New York and San Francisco, having the vilest newspapers in America, are the most lacking of the American cities in the finer and higher forces that make for the moral elevation of the people." That is quite true admits of no dispute. Both the eastern and western metropolises are being debauched morally and intellectually by their newspapers of the yellow kind—not by the Sunday newspaper alone, but by that same newspaper whether it comes out on a week day or upon the holy Sabbath. We are told that the people get the kind of newspaper they demand. This is not so. They get the kind of newspaper that is forced upon them by low-minded, conscienceless panders to the vicious and the depraved, and it is to the making of more vices and greater depravity that sheets of the yellow variety tend.

Philippine Legends.

[New York Commercial Advertiser.] If a malicious foreigner, hating America, liberty and the freedom of the press, sought justification, not merely of the Philippine Islands, but of the whole world, for the suppression of the press, he would find great encouragement in the subsequent history of the most precious bits of news that escaped the vigilance of Gen. Otis's censor.

That which has created most excitement at home and provoked the most elaborate and energetic attack on the political programme of the administration was the report that this or that military or naval officer, serving in the Philippines, had expressed this or that opinion, favorable to the insurgents, unfavorable to Gen. Otis, or in relation to the methods of the campaign, the treatment of the natives, the magnitude of the military task or the adequacy of the means at hand.

The sober acceptance of these fugitive reports, never guaranteed or verified by any of the formalities common in the most ordinary business intercourse, is a curious demonstration of eclectic human credulity. Persons that doubted the official reports, whose falsification would involve personal dishonor and risk loss of commission, seemed to swallow without question every newspaper story that was handed out in this manner. Funston had expressed that opinion, or that Dewey entertained the other belief, or to whom these things were said; no one took the ordinary precautions of verification one would use if told that his neighbor had said some extraordinary thing. They were not written statements verified by signature; they were not oral statements verified by the written statement of the bearer. They were mere anonymous reports that certain things had been said by some military or naval officer, not even to the writer of the report, but to some person unknown or not named.

In this form these legends of the campaign in the Philippines went broadcast over the country, playing a larger part in the history of contemporary public opinion than verified statements made over their own names by officers speaking on personal and official responsibility. Most of them have been denied at last, though the officers were too remote to know for a long time that their lies had been taken with their names. Funston came back and made declarations in person widely different from those put in his mouth by men that never talked with him; Dewey has refused contemptuously to discuss alleged interviews with him, and now Lawton denies any such work for the press. Nearly four hundred pupils have entered the High School, and it is probable that all could be accommodated, although the rooms will be crowded.

Utah Indian Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The only confirmation received by the Interior Department of the trouble with the Utah Indians on the Colorado border, comes in a telegram to the Secretary of the Interior from the State. He merely says that the Indians are reported by the game warden to be crossing the State line from their reservation in Utah, and that trouble is apprehended. The department accepts the press reports that some of the Indians have left their reservation in Utah, and that trouble is apprehended. The agent at Utah will be notified of the facts, and probably be instructed to call the wanderers back.

The Playhouses.

THEATRE. The bill for the week at this theatre is varied, strong and entertaining to a degree, and was the case last week, that splendid character actor, Felix Morris, continues to be by long odds its best feature. Mr. Morris presented last night for the first time here a powerful and absorbing little play by Forbes Robertson, which pathos predominates, and to such a degree as to quicken even the stoniest heart to tears. It is the tale of a veteran of the war for the Union who goes about the studios of artists selling to the workers in the ateliers brushes and tubes of paint—a veteran who, struck in the head at the battle of Mission Ridge when leading the regiment of which he was the colonel, and who was reported dead, but who really lives and spends many years thereafter in an asylum for the insane, finally being turned adrift in the world with his memory restored, but bankrupt in courage and in pocket, where he wanders a drunken vagabond, but still possessing many of the attributes of the soldier and the gentleman. There are details of the story not necessary to recount here, it being quite unnecessary to say the tale is not improbable and that it is most gracefully told by this actor of fine spirit and splendid intelligence.

Although Mr. Morris has presented numerous characters to us with rare skill and subtlety, it is not too much to say that his vagabond, who is the story of the soldier and the gentleman. There are details of the story not necessary to recount here, it being quite unnecessary to say the tale is not improbable and that it is most gracefully told by this actor of fine spirit and splendid intelligence.

ARRANGEMENTS UNDER WAY FOR RECEPTION AND BANQUET.

Meeting of the War Board and a Called Meeting Held Yesterday. Still of Battery D's Coming is Still Uncertain—Badge Sales.

A meeting of the War Board was held yesterday afternoon to make arrangements for the parade and reception to Battery D. It is still uncertain when the battery will leave San Francisco, but the War Board is confident that it will arrive in this city by Saturday.

Thousands of people will take advantage of the special rates made by the railroads, and crowds will come to the city to see the big parade, and help give the boys a rousing welcome.

Arrangements have been made so that the relatives and intimate friends of the soldiers will be admitted inside the inclosure at River artillery, and the gallery of the Army upon the presentation of a card, which can be obtained from the secretary of the War Board. After the train arrives at the station the boys will be given fifteen or twenty minutes in which to talk to their friends before commencing their march to the

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

In all the range of despicable sin known to erring human nature, no act is so truly vile and wholly barbarous as that of a wretched father and mother in Riverside, who deliberately deserted four helpless children, abandoning them to starvation, or the chance of some stranger heart being touched for their suffering, and came to this city, and established themselves here. These brutal parents advanced as a cause for their act that "it is impossible for us to feed them." And there are not wanting degenerate hearts among us who will point to this aggravating case of heartless cruelty and cry: "Give this man work!" Such rascals will not work. The real fundamental error in the law in such a case is that such human cattle are permitted to reproduce themselves. "Desertion" is a felony in this State, and it is to be hoped there will be no "law's delays" in this case.

One of the most striking proofs possible of the truth of the saw, "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," is found in the case of the embalmers' scandal which nearly disrupted the War Department and was used to smirch the good name of the commanding general of the army. This case, with all its bitterness, had the fair to render embalmers beef forever odious to Americans, but now comes a remarkable cattle-stealing case in the remarkable city of Stockton, wherein some of the stolen beef was embalmed and forwarded to Los Angeles, evidence against the thieves. It may be parenthetically stated here that there is a wide and growing field for the embalmers of beef in this city, as, with present prices ordinary people must forego its use and dealers must resort to some means to "keep" it. The times are ripe for some genius to arise and steal a cattle baron or two and thereby compass the lasting gratitude of the American people.

They do an occasional good thing even in San José, as witness the Associated Charities day entertainment on Saturday last, when every good man and woman in the city felt he or she was a special committee of one to get funds for this noble object. There was neither sect, or creed or color, or distinction of any sort—only a desire to help a deserving charity, and they spent a whole day and evening at the good work. "Why may not such a day be observed in Los Angeles?" The need and the field are vastly greater here, and the heart is here, too, if but the right steps are taken to touch it. The unprejudiced observer of social conditions cannot but see the painfully prominent gaps in the general welfare of the needy class left by the lines of sectarianism. To round out the charitable policy of the city, the labor of an organization that will sink all but the general good of the many is necessary. It will be a glad time for Los Angeles, when her charitable people inaugurate an "Associated Charities day."

Old Glory waved triumphantly from the fore-roof masthead on the port after side of the Santa Fe depot yesterday when fifty, more or less, of Los Angeles deep-water mariners—other wise the Naval Reserve contingent—slipped their bloomin' cables and squared away for stormy San Diego. "Lay aft to the pump's office and get your papers, you salty sea-dogs!" roared the commanding officer, and the depot policeman shined a post, while the brakeman hid under the blind-baggage car. "Pull up on your weather fore leechlines and pull out the plug, you pirates!" again roared on the startled air, and the colored expressions crawled back of the big fence. "Shiver my tompost backstays, stand by to board, you terrors of the Coast!" And so, with golf sticks, chewing gum and a baseball outfit, these weather-beaten sea-dogs took a hitch in their golf pants and crowded aboard. The conductor consulted his rabbit's foot and waved his port arm. The engineer opened the larboard-starboard side of the mizzzen-crossjack throttle, and with a heavy lurch to leeward they sailed off.

COMPTON, Sept. 17, 1899.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Noticing in your issue of the 16th inst. an account of the organization of the Los Angeles saloonkeepers, as they say, "to protect ourselves, etc." is it any wonder, I ask, that a class of men who use all the arts and means to compound drinks to ruin our homes, find opposition to their business? No other industry on earth could exist with such a body of crime, and at the same time to the people. Coroners' juries fix responsibilities for accidents and death in other businesses, why not in this? B. WALTON.

A Jew Redeems the Honor of the "Anderson Guards."

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18, 1899.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the fall of 1881 a company of cavalry was raised in Philadelphia, Pa., of select and intelligent young men, and was known as the "Anderson Guards." The purpose of the company was to protect the honor of the city and to maintain law and order. The company was organized by Gen. Anderson of Fort Sumter fame. Subsequently they served as body guard to Maj. Gen. D. C. Buell, commanding the Department of the Ohio. The faithful and efficient services rendered by this company were so well appreciated by Gen. Buell that he asked permission to have three additional companies recruited of like men, and same to be officered from the old troop of his headquarters on his selection. The request was granted. A recruiting party was detailed from the company, proceeded to Philadelphia, and secured permission to recruit. Their success was unprecedented. In a short time they had a thousand additional men enlisted. The recruits raised in the Department of $20,000 toward defraying the expenses of their horses and equipments. But before they reached the field of operations, Gen. Buell had been relieved, and Gen. Rosengarten commanded the army, and the "Anderson Guard" was designated the "Fifteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry." To this the men objected, saying they enlisted to do escort and guard duty at headquarters; that their company officers were not all appointed; that their companies were not properly organized, drilled and equipped; and asked to be mustered out. Their request was refused. The result was a mutiny. On December 27, 1882, the regiment was ordered to engage the enemy at Murfreesborough, Tenn., but the men were angry and refused to obey orders. A. G. Rosengarten, senior major, rode to the front and asked for volunteers willing to be led into the fight. Four hundred and sixty-eight officers and men responded to the call, and were led by the gallant Maj. Rosengarten. In special field order No. 6, Headquarters Department of the Cumberland, Murfreesborough, Tenn., January 9, 1863, paragraph 18, it was said:

"The general commanding announces his high satisfaction with those brave and determined men of the Anderson Guards, who promptly marched under the gallant Maj. Rosengarten in his advance on Murfreesborough. These young soldiers and their brave commanders vied with our most veteran cavalry in their steadiness under fire and the intrepidity of their advance on the enemy, and nobly sustained the honor already won by the Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry at the battle of Stones River. While he deplores the early death of brave young Maj. Rosengarten, the sorrow he feels at his loss is mingled with a soldier's pride to know that he fell like a hero and for the sacred cause of nationality." The order bore the signature of C. Goddard, chief of staff.

"Going Out to See a Man."

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thanks to newspapers like The Times, and thanks to the State law which has stepped in with authority, the intelligent theater-goer is protected in these latter days from the annoyance of the hat-wearing women wearing plumes and waving wings have ruined many a play in the days gone by. But who, or what, is to protect us from the outrage perpetrated by those who leave the building ere the final curtain drops? Saturday, as that matinee, Marie Antoinette, wailed out her final farewell to the cruel land she loved so well, the scene was marred by the rustle of leave-taking all through the house. The writer, turning to Los Angeles woman sitting beside her, queried, as the curtain fell, why it was so; and received the answer, "Oh, they don't know any better!" Why will the cultured public of Los Angeles expose itself to such a criticism, when a little thought for others will relieve them of the odium?

And next in ability to try the limit of one's patience, is the woman who loiters on the stairs and in the foyer discussing the baby's last tooth or a neighbor's gown, hindering meanwhile those who may have good cause to hurry, once their brief play time is over.

FAIR PLAY.

The "Humanity" of Vivisection.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18, 1899. [To the Editor of The Times.] No doubt your gentle correspondent, "Humanity," has not given the subject of "Vivisection" very serious thought, or else she could not have written in the strain she has.

That vivisection is brutal, if practiced as your correspondent has presented, there can be no doubt, but it is not vivisection as such, but the humanity this same brutality (?) is or will ultimately be?

If our practitioners were to "try" their experiments on humans without knowing what the result would be on the organism, would not that be more brutal and criminal than that which is the result by practice on a dumb creature that has been deprived of the sense of feeling.

One can, assume, guess or surmise a great deal, but to know one must have had demonstrations by practical tests, and if such tests were to be made on human organism I fear that humanity would be suffering tenfold more than at present. I dare say that the power of most of our great remedial agents, cats, dogs and other dumb animals, and if this had not been the case, I fear that we would be without many drugs and surgical appliances and practices that very likely your sensitive correspondent herself could not very well be without at the present time and condition of living.

Would it not be more sagacious to think that God has sent to us in the sincere experimental research into surgical shock (not merely to gratify some inquisitive whim?) but certainly would be the more reasonable way of looking at it, and no doubt if your correspondent will debate the subject in her mind, she will arrive at the conclusion that this vivisection of dumb animals is for us a necessity and at its very worst an "evil necessity." It has been proven that this brutality (?) is absolutely necessary to advance the science of medicine and lessen human suffering, for who would think of vivisection being practiced on human beings.

I merely give expression to my way of looking at it and am ready to accept any rational conception to the contrary.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN THE HEART OF A BUSY MANUFACTURING DISTRICT.

Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company's and W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company's Valuable Properties Destroyed by Fierce Flames.

Three of the Lumber Company's Employees Badly Burned, One of Them Fatally—Missing Foreman Supposed to Have Perished in the Blaze—Spectators Injured by Collapse of a Porch. City's Greatest Conflagration.

Fire which originated in the engine-room of the W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company yesterday afternoon swept clear of buildings about the entire block bounded by Commercial, Alameda, Requesena and Wilmington streets, did slight damage to property in adjacent blocks and resulted in serious injury to several persons, one of whom died early this morning. The dead: GEORGE H. KNOWLTON.

The injured: J. M. DEITER, H. A. SPRINGER, GEORGE J. MCLEAN, MRS. M. COCHARD, MISS G. PETRIYA, MRS. EMILIE FAURE.

The missing: WARD H. CUNNINGHAM.

The principal properties destroyed were the plants of the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company and the W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company, which occupied the greater part of the block described. The only building of the Farming and Milling Company which escaped the flames is a escaped from the furnace unnoticed by any one and found lodgment in a pile of shavings or the sawdust which had accumulated on the joists of the floor above, and the mischief was done. The first sign of danger was observed by George J. McLean, a carpenter, employed in the room over the engine-room. A few minutes before 1:30 o'clock, McLean noticed that the air in the workroom was slightly colored with smoke. His first impression was that some of the belting coming in contact with woodwork had caused sufficient friction to make the wood smoke. He started to investigate and was horror-struck to see a tongue of flame shooting through the floor. He shouted fire and ran with his utmost speed to the nearest fire alarm box at the corner of Commercial and Wilmington streets. After turning in an alarm, he ran back to the planing mill to get his tools and to assist in fighting the fire.

In the few moments McLean was gone the flames had made such headway that he made his way with difficulty to the room where he left his tools. He found the room enveloped in flames, which pressed him so positive side of Alameda street. Mr. Gay then put all the books into the office vault and closed the door. By the time this was done the whole occupancy but a few minutes, the milling property was melting away before the onslaught of the flames.

WORK OF THE FIREMEN.

It was exactly 1:30 o'clock when the first alarm was turned in by George McLean from box No. 64. Chief Moore was in engine-house No. 8 when the alarm was sounded. He started at once for the scene of the conflagration, as did all the engine companies in the district. When the chief got to Hill and First streets he could already see the column of flame and smoke. Judging by the locality he knew that the fire was in the mill, and he was on the ground with all possible haste to the scene of the fire. He was on the ground with all possible haste to the scene of the fire. He was on the ground with all possible haste to the scene of the fire.

When Chief Moore arrived on the ground he saw that the force of fire-fighters responding to the first call was insufficient to cope with a fire of such dimensions. He immediately rang for the extras and followed it five minutes later with a general alarm, which brought all the engines in the city to the scene. Only ten minutes elapsed between the first alarm and the general alarm. Meantime several other alarms had been turned in from various boxes, as well as by telephone. The successive alarms brought out vast crowds of people who hastened in the direction of the fire to watch its progress. The streets in the vicinity soon became greatly congested, and the police had difficulty in keeping crowds back out of the way of the firemen. Sergeants Morton and Smith, with all the men available, had charge of the police regulations. Capt. Roberts was also on hand and personally assisted in handling the crowds.

The firemen were greatly handicapped by the meager water supply. Most of the water pipes in the vicinity were laid thirty years ago, and the mains are only of four inches diameter. An 8-inch main on Los Angeles street helped out to some extent, and re-which were threatened, but escaped with a scorching.

Besides saving the grain warehouse at the northwest corner of Alameda and Commercial streets, the firemen also succeeded in saving, with slight damage, a row of small buildings fronting on Wilmington street, between Commercial and Requesena, and a brick block at the corner of Wilmington and Commercial. With these few exceptions the entire block was laid waste.

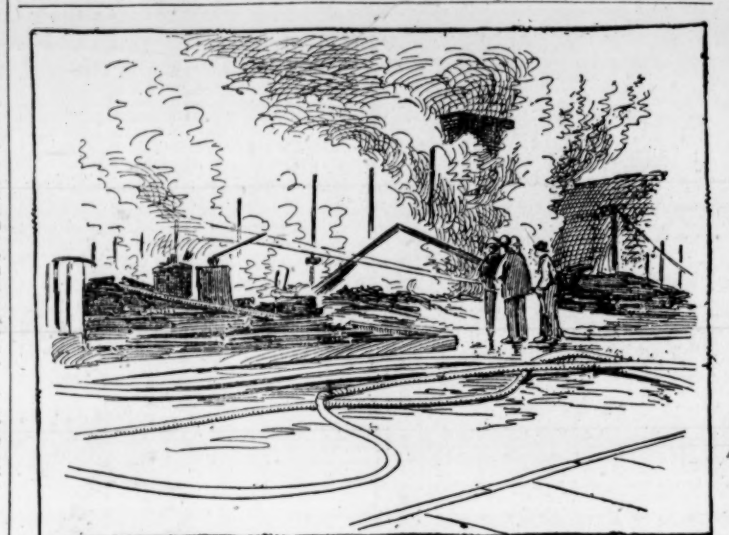

During the early progress of the fire great clouds of cinders and burning firebrands were taken up by the current of hot air and scattered over the district east of Alameda street almost as far as the river. The falling sparks set fire to the roofs of many buildings, and residents were kept busy protecting their homes with lines of garden hose and wet blankets. The element extinguished a number of these incipient blazes. Chemical No. 5 put out roof fires at Nos. 447 and 449 Ducommun, and another at the rear of No. 452.

A hole was burned in the roof of the cooper shop at Maier & Zolner, and the main fire. Men were stationed on the roofs of the big brewery buildings all afternoon with lines of hose to guard against falling firebrands. When Lou Simpson's cottage near the brew-

2500.—The employees worked so hard to save the wagons and carriages that their good clothes, which they wear to and from the shop, and 1320 contained a large mass of varnish were stored in the main shop, and they created an intensely hot fire when the flames reached them. Mr. Lloyd took his loss philosophically, although he carried but 250 of insurance, and last evening he gave the men orders on the clothing stores to replace the suits lost in the fire.

One of the warehouses of J. F. Holbrook, at Nos. 313-315 Requesena street, containing pipe, well-casing and similar supplies, was burned. The loss was $2500, with no insurance. The adjoining warehouse had a close call, but was finally saved.

There were several small blazes that resulted from cinders and brands being borne by the wind to neighboring roofs. One cottage on Aliso street, three blocks distant from the fire, caught and was gutted by the flames. The house was occupied by Lou Simpson, whose spouse was much angered at the attempt of the firemen to save her personal effects. From this it is surmised that they were fully insured. Mrs. Simpson, who had carried nearly everything out of the house, and began scolding them:

PLAYING ON RUINS FROM WILMINGTON STREET.

every took fire from a falling cinder, excitement was great, and a vast crowd rushed in that direction. Chemical engine No. 2 responded first to the alarm sent in for the Simpson cottage, and was reinforced later by a steamer and a hook and ladder company. The steamer made a break for the tap room to induce in free beer, but the mob grew so great that the brewers were compelled to close the bar.

By 3 o'clock the department had the fire under control, and Chief Moore gradually drew off his forces. He kept a number of engines on hand all night and it will probably be several days before the fire burns itself out entirely.

ESTIMATED LOSSES.

Figures Given by the Losers Foot Up $205,000, Partly Insured.

The most reliable estimates, obtainable last night, of the loss caused by yesterday's fire place the amount at $265,000. More than half of this sum is covered by insurance. Accurate figures could not be obtained, as the books of both the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company and the W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company, the heaviest losers, were locked up in fire-proof vaults among the ruins. It will be several days before the debris can be cleared and the vaults become sufficiently cool so that they can be opened without danger to the contents.

The Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company, in which I. N. Van Noy and R. Lankershim of this city are chiefly interested, suffered the heaviest loss. Gilbert Gay, the cashier of the company, places the total loss at about $200,000. There were fifteen grain bins in the big elevator and nearly all of them were filled with wheat. Approximately 25,000 sacks of wheat were burned, by the fire, or deluged with water. While it is hoped that some of it can be saved for feed purposes or for fermentation, a large amount will prove a total loss. Mr. Gay estimates the damage to the wheat alone at $43,750. The flour mill that formed part of the plant contained some very good machinery, but its destruction means a loss of approximately $60,000. About one hundred and seventy-five tons of hay were stored in the warehouse on Requesena street, valued at $3500. This will prove a total loss. In building the grain elevator about 300,000 feet of rough lumber was used, and at a conservative estimate this was worth $6000.

Beside the large amount of wheat that was stored in sacks and in the grain bins, large quantities of barley, corn and bran were stored in the warehouse, and this is a total loss. Some flour was also on hand, but the greater part of it was kept in the warehouse at the corner of Alameda and Requesena streets, which did not burn. The loss to the big five-story mill and to the other warehouses, all of which were gutted by the fire, with amount in the aggregate to about $85,000. These figures foot up $199,550, or practically $200,000.

The Farming and Milling Company was insured, according to the statement Mr. Gay gave, for about $100,000, the Aetna Fire Insurance Company and the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company being the heaviest insurers. The Pacific Fire Insurance Company and several other insurance concerns have given policies for various small amounts.

W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company, places the loss of his firm at $55,000. The lumber yard of the company, on Requesena street, a distance of 450 feet, and all the space not taken up by the buildings was covered with surface lumber. There was about 100,000 feet of this lumber in the yard, valued at $3500. All the rough lumber was in a yard across Requesena street, and the dining room of the part of the fire department, was saved from the fire. In one corner of the yard, hundreds of barrels of cement were piled up. The barrels were burned, but a great part of the cement will be saved. The machinery of the planing mill, where the fire started, together with the company and the valuable patterns and devices that were destroyed, are valued by Mr. Morgan at $21,000. It is impossible to state just what chance he has of recovering. He is married and has a family.

The only case now expected to result fatally is that of George H. Knowlton, who resides at No. 130 Garey street. He served as assistant engineer for the Perry Company, and was one of the first to discover the fire. Rushing into the room filled with burning shavings, he was badly burned about the limbs and chest. Upon examination by Dr.

Hagan at the Receiving Hospital, the flesh was found to be literally cooked in several places. Bandages were applied and every effort made to alleviate the suffering of the burned man. While in the Receiving Hospital, Knowlton brightened a once and asked what were his chances for recovery. Dr. Hagan reluctantly told him they were small, which Knowlton accepted with Spartan-like stoicism. Immediately relapsing into unconsciousness. He was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where physicians are working hard over him. Knowlton is married, having a wife and one child.

Fireman H. A. Springer, with chemical engine No. 2, was severely spained by falling through the roof of a burning cottage. About 3:45 o'clock a part of the fire department was called to No. 420 Aliso street to extinguish the flames in a small cottage. Springer was ordered to climb to the roof. Some of the rafters having burned away, the roof gave in, and Springer fell through to the floor below, a distance of eighteen feet. The fireman landed upon his feet, but was injured internally. Springer was more than the porch could hold up. Without any warning, the floor gave way, precipitating the women to the ground below, a distance of sixteen feet. Bystanders came to the rescue and took the unfortunate people into the saloon.

The patrol wagon was hastily summoned and those injured taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Hagan dressed their wounds. Mrs. M. Cochard of No. 513 Aliso street had her right ankle badly dislocated. Miss G. Petriya, who lives at the corner of Wilmington and Commercial streets, had both of the bones in the left leg badly crushed above the ankle. Mrs. J. Pondley also fell, but escaped injury, save a bad shaking up. Her little son was caught by a man standing on a part of the porch, which did not fall. Mrs. Emilie Faure, who resides at No. 302 Commercial street, was with those who fell, but her injuries not being considered serious, she remained at home. With the women was a large St. Ber-burned lumber mill. The last seen of Cunningham was a few minutes after the fire started, when he was in the office. Later, Charles Cary, who was attempting to operate a fire plug in the engine-room, heard Cunningham's voice directing him how to adjust the wrench to the hydrant. Cary says he did not see the fireman, but thinks he attempted to extinguish a blazing pile of shavings and remained in the engine-room until all chance of escape was cut off.

Diligent effort on the part of relatives and friends failed to locate the missing man and at midnight search was abandoned until morning. Mr. Cunningham was a man of sterling character and his family and fellow-workmen are satisfied that, if alive, he would have made his whereabouts known.

The missing man, who was a widower, lived at No. 1537 Bridge street, with a grown son and daughter. Residents in that vicinity manifested great concern at his disappearance and were earnest in their search for the man, dead or alive. The proprietors of the mill have arranged to commence search for the body in the ruins at daylight today.

OLD LANDMARKS.

Burned Buildings Were Not Without Historic Interest.

The flour mill of the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company was the third institution of the kind in Los Angeles, it having been built by Messrs. Lankershim and Van Nuy, about twenty-three years ago. The first institution of the kind was the old Stearns mill on San Fernando street, built about thirty-five years ago, the bricks for which, it is said, were brought from Boston. Stearns then built the Aliso-street mill, and afterwards disposed of the San Fernando-street property to Deming, since which time it has been known as the Capitol Mills. Having immense grain drops in the San Fernando Valley, Messrs. Lankershim and Van Nuy built the mill which was destroyed yesterday. The great smokestack, which still stands intact, was designed and built by Architect Octavius Morgan twenty-two years ago.

The grain warehouse fronting on Alameda street was the original Southern Pacific depot in this city. It was vacated by the railroad company about 1877, when the San Fernando-street depot, now called River Station, was made the principal depot.

The W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company is the oldest lumber company in Los Angeles. W. H. Perry, its president, having been in the business about forty-two years ago. He erected the first planing mill in Los Angeles. Both the milling and lumber companies will probably rebuild on the old sites in the near future.

SMOLDERING RUINS.

Evening Visitors at the Scene of Yesterday's Conflagration.

A burning mass of baled hay, smoldering heaps of grain and scattered pieces of charred lumber remained last evening at the scene of the Perry Lumber Company fire. Crowds lined the streets on all sides of the burned district, and a number of carpenters who had been employed in the mill searched the ruins for tools which they had left behind in their hasty flight from the building.

Chief Moore of the fire department directed the movements of the three companies on duty up to 10 o'clock, when he dismissed one crew and went home for rest. At 9 o'clock a lunch of coffee and sandwiches was distributed to the twenty firemen left at work, and at midnight a fresh relay street, where stimulants, cold water and vigorous fanning soon revived him. When the fire was at its height, traffic was suspended on the Southern Pacific tracks between the Arcade Depot and River Station. The heat made it impossible for trains to pass through Alameda street, opposite the burning buildings. Besides, the tracks were obstructed with lines of hose and firemen in the discharge of their duties. By 3 o'clock the temperature was sufficiently lowered to permit trains to pass. The hose lines were then bridged and trains which had been held were allowed to pass.

In the tower of the flour mill hundreds of pigeons had their home. When the mill took fire and the flames leaped to the tower, the birds took to the wing, but devotion to their duty prevented them from leaving the cause of their failure to fly out of harm's way. Instead of seeking safety they circled round and round through the columns of smoke and hot air until hundreds of them were overcome and dropped down into the flames. Many of the birds were seen to alight on the columns of smoke and hot air until hundreds of them were overcome and dropped down into the flames. Many of the birds were seen to alight on the columns of smoke and hot air until hundreds of them were overcome and dropped down into the flames.

The old Strasburg house, at the northeast corner of Ducommun and Alameda streets, should be rechristened the Salamander. It is a rickety frame structure, dry as tinder, and repeatedly took fire from the burning flour mill opposite, but by dint of hard work by the firemen, it was saved. Part of the building is occupied by negroes, who were wildly excited at the conflagration. Once when the roof became ablaze from a falling cinder, a venturesome darky climbed onto a pitch of water. He was not successful, but a chemical engine finished the job. While the flames were roaring and crackling all about, and the window glass was being splintered by the intense heat, the barkeeper in the Strasburg saloon stood heroically at his post and dispensed beer to the thirsty multitude at 5 cents per schooner.

All the drinking places in the vicinity of the fire did a good business while it lasted. The heat and smoke was very provocative of thirst, and the multi-tude fairly surged about the bars to get a refreshing draught. Beer was the beverage most in demand, but those who needed it most were the perspiring, hard-worked police, got the least of it. They did not have time to stop to drink, besides, the rules forbid drinking on duty.

A large quantity of baled hay stored in a brick building at the northwest corner of the burning property, on Jackson street, made a very hot fire. The police had hard work keeping the narrow street clear of people in spite of the fact that a brick wall twenty-five feet high was in imminent danger of toppling into the street. The water did eventually fall, and tilted the street with red-hot brick and burning hay, from curb to curb. Fortunately, the police had succeeded in driving the spectators out of harm's way before the crash came.

The Roche & Co's winchouse, at the northwest corner of Commercial and Alameda streets, had a close call. Louis Sentous, Jr., the manager, sent the Alameda street fire engine to the First National Bank, and then stood by, expecting to see the building and its large stock of wheat and flours burn, but fortunately the flames did not cross the street.

Many families, especially those living in the burned district, were alarmed by the fire. The streets adjacent to the fire had the appearance of a list of April flitting day in eastern communities. The rapidity with which the flames spread may be judged by the fact that Officer Ben Robbins, who stood at Los Angeles and Commercial streets when the alarm from box No. 64 was sounded, started at once for the fire and ran all the way, but when he got there the entire lumber yard was already ablaze.

Officer Harris made a quick sprint from Chinatown, and other officers came from various directions, but no difference how short the distance, they arrived in time only to see the lumber yard and burning buildings a seething mass of flame. All hands agreed that they had never before seen a fire spread so fast.

The McDonald Grain and Milling Company offered to the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company, yesterday evening, the use of its mill for any emergency orders the latter company might be unable to fill on account of the fire.

One of the curious features of the fire was the prevalence of roaches and beetles which were smoked out of the burning grain. Swarms of these insects filled the air and settled on the clothes of persons who filled the streets near the fire.

THE CARTER CASE.

History of This Famous Trial by Court-martial.

[Chicago Times-Herald.] Of all the scandals concerning the honor and integrity of the army none has been so serious as that affecting the reputation of Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, late government engineer in charge of the works at Savannah, Ga.

In the winter of 1888 he was whispered that extensive frauds had been committed in connection with the government work at Savannah harbor. Carter had been in charge of this work for a number of years, and it was his successor, Capt. Cassius E. Gillette, who indicated that the work at Savannah was suspicious. Following an investigation by Col. Gillespie, Maj. Raymond and Maj. Adams, of the engineer corps, at Savannah, work, the following charges were formulated against Capt. Carter, then military attaché to the American Embassy at London:

(1) That Capt. Carter conspired with the Atlantic Contracting Company and others to defraud the United States, and to obtain allowance of fraudulent claims amounting to $250,000, and that he advertised for proposals for contracts for work in Georgia so that the contracting company and the person named were enabled to secure the contracts.

(2) That in pursuance of the conspiracy Capt. Carter received, accepted and paid for work inferior to that contracted for.

(3) That in submitting estimates he reported that new soundings had been made, when such was not the fact.

(4) That he fraudulently indorsed a false pay roll.

(5) That he, with others, devised a scheme to defraud the city of Savannah of large sums of money, and compelled it to sell valuable rock owned by it under unfavorable circumstances, so that the Atlantic Contracting Company and others might cheaply buy the rock.

(6) That in an indorsement referring to the purchase of rock on Hutchinson Island, near the city, he made a false statement.

(7) That he swore falsely in giving testimony before a jury regarding delivery of rock.

(8) That he has failed to account for $120 he exacted from one Alfred Hirt, who delayed returning a government diving outfit.

(9) That he caused a telegram to be sent to the Secretary of War in May, 1888, which purported to come from Savannah, when Capt. Carter was in New York.

(10) Embezzlement. The specifications in this charge cover certain items in the first three charges.

COURT-MARTIAL ORDERED.

A court-martial was ordered, and the following officers were made members of the court:

Brig-Gen. Elwell S. Otis, Denver, president of the court.

Capt. Richard P. Strong, Fourth Artillery, Fort McHenry, Md.

Capt. Samuel M. Mills, Fifth Artillery, Fortress Monroe, Va.

Maj. John R. Myrick, Fort Wadsworth, New York Harbor.

Maj. William S. Patton, Quartermaster's Department, Governor's Island.

Maj. William S. Stanton, Corps of Engineers, Oswego, N. Y.

Col. Samuel M. Mansfield, Corps of Engineers, Boston.

Col. Jacob Kline, Twenty-first Infantry, Plattsburgh Barracks, N. Y.

Lieut.-Col. Henry C. Hasbrouck, Fourth Artillery, Fort Monroe, Va.

Maj. Charles A. Woodruff, supply department, Governor's Island.

Maj. John T. Tienan, First Artillery, Fort Monroe, Va.

Capt. Daniel T. Taylor, Ordnance Department, Augusta Arsenal.

Capt. Charles J. Penny, Sixth Infantry, Fort Thomas, Ky.

Col. Thomas F. Barr, Judge Advocate.

PACKED TRIBUNAL CHARGED.

The proceedings of the court-martial were no sooner begun than intimations were heard that through the operations of a hostile clique in the Engineering Corps of the army the court had been packed against Carter and that he was to be condemned to a certain death.

On the other hand, it was charged by Carter's enemies that political influence and wealth were being used to secure his escape from punishment. However this may be, he was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to the President, in whose hands they have been ever since. The court advocates hope that the outcome of the case will be a new trial. His opponents pray for his sentence to the penitentiary and dismissal from the army.

CARTER AN ABLE ENGINEER.

In the purely military part of the curriculum his record was no less enviable, for when in the first class he was cadet lieutenant and adjutant of the First National Bank, and then stood by, expecting to see the building and its large stock of wheat and flours burn, but fortunately the flames did not cross the street.

Many families, especially those living in the burned district, were alarmed by the fire. The streets adjacent to the fire had the appearance of a list of April flitting day in eastern communities. in-law, who gave him a power of attorney for the transaction of all his business.

When the trial of Capt. Carter commenced it was considered a point against him that in regard to certain of the charges preferred he should plead the statute of limitations. Nevertheless, he did plead it, was sustained by the court, and was tried only on the occurrences of the two years previous to his accusation.

It was charged against Carter that he had a financial interest in the Atlantic Contracting Company, which was doing work for the government at Savannah. It was also charged that he became a member of the Nicaraguan Canal Commission solely for the purpose of securing work on that canal for the Atlantic company. Judge-Advocate Barr charged that "a total of $172,000 was stolen from the government on bogus memoranda alone during three contracts."

LIVED HIGH AT SAVANNAH.

Capt. Carter's mode of living was high at Savannah, but he always gave an explanation of the most brilliant men in him through his father-in-law. He kept a yacht, which was charged, cost $25,000, and was paid for with government money. He was accused of having dummies on his pay rolls, of owning a quarry from which he took rock which was sold to the government.

The prosecution maintained that over $200,000 was stolen by Carter out of the treasury for improvements of public waterways.

In reply to the theory of the defense that Capt. Carter was a rather liberal spender, his money came all right—that is, through his rich father-in-law, Mr. Westcott—Col. Barr in presenting that branch of the case to the court, said:

"This marvelous father-in-law, who took good care of his dollars, as Mr. Depue testified, whose affection for the accused was so great that he placed his bank account at his disposal to do with it as he saw fit, to check against it indiscriminately for his personal expenses, and for gifts in large amounts to members of his own family; to leave with him currency to an unknown amount, and over $100,000 to a safe deposit company to draw from at will; was it not a matter of course that such an unkind-of and unprecedented state of affairs existed. He would not even consent to give testimony through a deposition. He is ill; he is nervous; his daughter is sick."

COL. BARR'S DENUNCIATION.

"The testimony given by the accused in his efforts to account for the wealth in his possession, as shown by his personal account with the Union Trust Company, to explain by mysterious means the enormous sum of $100,000, the cabalistic accounting on the margin of his check book, is too patently a nature to dwell upon. The court must have freshly in mind not only the matter, but the manner which marked his evidence upon this point. It is too great a task upon human credulity to ask that credence be given to such a tale. There is a more reasonable way of accounting for it, and that is through the enormous gains of the Atlantic Contracting Company—made enormous through his connivance."

"The cursed greed for wealth which is gnawing at the vitals of every virtue in all centers of civilization is one of the evils of our times. Good men have fallen from lofty heights while influenced by this greed. Hitherto the army has escaped the blighting influence of this fierce struggle for wealth. Its officers have rested content with the enjoyment of the honestly-earned salaries of their positions. Countless millions of money have passed through their hands, with but isolated instances of breach of trust. Should President McKinley sustain the findings of the court-martial and the recommendations of the court, Capt. Carter will be sentenced to dismissal from the army, five years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $5000. By the unwritten code of the army he will then be in a position in which no officer will ever recognize him. If he is innocent—and his friends appear to be as numerous as his enemies—his case is the foulest ever written into the annals of the army."

NOT RUINED BY THE FIRE.

The crowds on Commercial street, viewing the ruins of yesterday's fire, have, with a second, expressed astonishment at the beautiful preservation of one of Dr. Pierce's beautiful, sixteenth-century posters. Dr. Pierce's remedies have stood harder tests than this, and have never yet been found wanting.

Here is the snap, the vim and vigor of young manhood. Any man who wears it can be a giant in mental and physical development. Thousands of men are mere pigmies of what nature intended them, backward, over-sensitive, fearing to venture, delicate, easily discouraged, short of breath, weak-nerved, lacking the grit, the "sand" which is the possession of vigorous manhood.

They need Electricity, which is animal vitality. It is the foundation of all vigor. It is the fuel to the engine which runs the human machine. Electricity, as I apply it, is a source of new life to all parts of the body.

Vigor of Youth Fully Restored.

Men, are you weak, have you pains in your back, varicose, weak stomach, constipation, lumbago, rheumatism, enlarged prostate gland, or any of the results of early mistakes, excesses or overwork? My method of applying electricity while you sleep at night will cure you. It fills the nerves and organs with the fire of life. You wear my Belt while you sleep. You feel its life-giving power, and can regulate it. Call and test it free, or send for free book.

DYSPEPSIA

"For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking CASCARETS, and since then I have steadily improved, until I am as well as ever was in my life."

DAVID H. MURPHY, Newark, O.
